The Alpha Bench pads are available individually for both the standard and premium pad options, the standard back and seat pads can be bought separate but the premium version sells as a set only. The only difference in the pads is the back of the pad, the premium has a steel back instead of felt that is the color of the frame of the bench. The Foam, Upholstery and all other materials are the same for the standard and premium pad other than the back of the pad. This pad is also used on our Utility Seat Pad Attachment.
